Church Group Makes Wise Decision

As you may have noted in our edition last Monday an AP dispatch reported from Corpus Christi that the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, comprising a 60-county membership, took a stand against putting church money into politically-oriented organizations.

The action came about following disclosure that a church committee had made a grant to the Mexican-American Youth Organization. Episcopalians were reminded that the political group MAYO had "forcibly occupied a Presbyterian Church in Houston in 1970 and relinquished it only on a mandamus order from a Houston court."

A still broader view of the Episcopalian diocese statement is that possibly the diocese was giving its members a subtle reminder that church property and church dues are exempt from taxation and any political action with church money might jeopardize that exemption.

No matter how benevolent the purpose of the political group which church money sought to help the threat to tax exemption remains.

Once in a local option election when legalization of liquor sales was proposed for Hempstead County your editor had to warn local church groups that they were endangering their tax-exempt status if they held any "dry" committee meetings on church property.

The law is severe regardless of purpose. I know from personal experience.

Back in the 1960s I took a case clear to the United States Supreme Court and found that you can't even circulate a petition for a referendum without making yourself guilty of "influencing legislation"—resulting in your loss of tax-exemption for petition costs.

Obviously the Mexican-American Youth Organization has merit in a representative republic—but tax-exempt church funds are specifically barred.

Mills Would Take the Nomination

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

The latest entry in the Democratic presidential sweepstakes, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, says he will accept the nomination if he gets it, but he doesn't have time to campaign before the convention in July.

Mills, a congressional expert on finance, told a news conference in Concord, N.H., Tuesday he has no idea how much money is being spent by people who want to nominate him. But he hopes it's enough to win some votes and have a little cash left over to cover campaign debts.

The chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee said, "This is not a Mills campaign; this is a draft-Mills campaign. The work of our Ways and Means Committee is such that I just cannot take away from the committee for sufficient time to go into the states that conduct these presidential primaries and make that kind of campaign."

But the congressman said none of the other Democrats in the race appear to be attracting enthusiastic support, and he might get the nomination on the second ballot at the convention.

In Washington, meanwhile, the Senate Democratic Policy Committee called for public censure of presidential aide H.R. Haderman for saying critics of President Nixon's Vietnam peace proposal are consciously aiding and abetting the enemy.

Haldeman's remarks Feb. 7 on NBC's "Today" show were the strongest in a series of public chastisements issued by administration figures and Republican leaders following Democratic criticism of the Nixon proposal.

"Actions of this nature," the Senate Democrats said, "should be subject to the most serious scrutiny and public censure."

The vote by the 11 committee members present was unanimous, but Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the only presidential candidate on the committee, did not attend. Muskie has often been singled out for his remarks calling the peace plan a retread of previously unsuccessful proposals.

Martha Is Crying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country needs John N. Mitchell more than President Nixon does, says Martha Mitchell, loquacious wife of the attorney general.

"I'm not approving of his new job at all," Mrs. Mitchell said in a telephone interview after it was announced Tuesday that Mitchell is resigning his Cabinet post to direct Nixon's re-election effort.

Mrs. Mitchell says Nixon can win without her husband on the campaign team.

"I think John is more important in the Justice Department than in Nixon's administration running the campaign because he has done more for justice than has ever been done in this country," said Mrs. Mitchell.

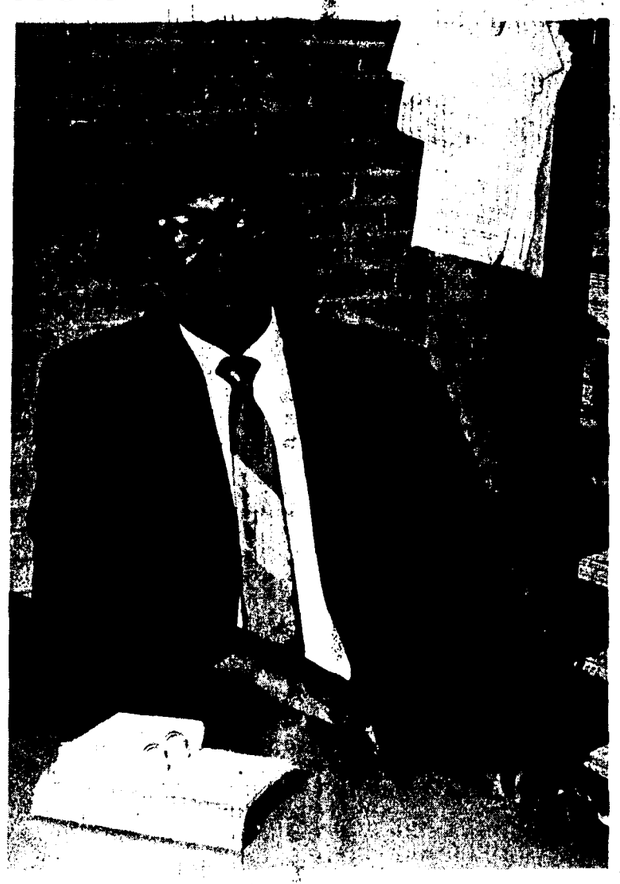

"I am more for my country than for John to be in Nixon's re-election campaign," she declared.

Asked to list Mitchell's top achievements in Justice, Mrs. Mitchell replied: "Mainly, he has done a cleaning up of this country; he started on the Mafia; he's cleaned up the streets, and cleaned up America as a whole. This is something no one else, no one else, has done."

Although Mrs. Mitchell knew the job switch had been in the wind for sometime, she said, her husband told her of the definite move Monday night. But she said she did not discuss her thoughts about the matter with him.

"Even if I had, I assure you my feelings would remain the same," she said. "He's more important on the job he's holding now than in the job he will hold.

Retirement Announced

WILL V. RUTHERFORD

Will V. Rutherford, Principal of Yerger Junior High School, plans to retire at the end of this school year.

His retirement was announced at the regular School Board meeting Monday night, February 14.

The Board and Superintendent stated that, "Mr. Rutherford's leadership and influence in this community and the schools will be sorely missed".

Mr. Rutherford has been connected with the schools for twenty-three years as Principal of the former Yerger High School and of Yerger Junior High School.

He holds the Diploma of Advanced Study from the University of Arkansas.

Bombers Strike Inside N. Vietnam, Two Lost

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes launched substantial air strikes inside North Vietnam today, U.S. military sources said.

Radio Hanoi claimed two U.S. planes were shot down and a number of pilots were killed or captured. A U.S. Command spokesman, told of the broadcast, said: "I have nothing to report."

The command in the past has withheld reporting on downed planes until search and rescue missions were completed.

The North Vietnamese broadcast asserted that a number of U.S. jets attacked populous areas in Quang Binh and Vinh Linh, North Vietnam's two southernmost provinces.

The U.S. informants said the strikes were in North Vietnam's half of the demilitarized zone that separates the warring Vietnams but declined to disclose the targets.

They added there also may have been some raids north of the zone, but withheld details pending an announcement from the U.S. Command.

"There were protective reaction strikes and other strikes involved," said one informant, "but I can't give you the number."

He said the raids were beyond the usual one or two "protective reaction" strikes frequently reported from time to time when enemy guns or radar lock on to U.S. planes.

Allied intelligence indicates 70 per cent more North Vietnamese troops will move into South Vietnam or into border areas during the first five months than in the same period last year, U.S. military sources said.

Denies Withheld Funds Political

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration says it's withholding $12.3 billion in appropriated funds, but denies any of the money is an election slush fund for use later this year.

Congressional critics charge President Nixon has built a multibillion-dollar political war chest with withheld appropriations.

The Office of Management and Budget has released a list of the $12.3 billion in withheld appropriations to show that disbursement of $10.6 billion is awaiting confirmation that proposed recipients are legally eligible or approved.

Some of the remaining $1.7 billion may be released before the end of the current fiscal year June 30, said Caspar Weinberger, OMB deputy director. But he said charges of political motivation in releasing the money are false and irresponsible.

Weinberger said the part of the $1.7 billion that may be released is small compared with several billion dollars from other sources with which the administration plans to stimulate the economy in a five-month spending speedup.

A portion of the $1.7 billion represents money saved through Nixon's Aug. 15 order cutting back federal employes and funds not spent because of congressional ceilings on outlays, Weinberger said in an interview.

Critics of administration appropriations practices include Rep. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., who said Nixon was amassing a "$3.5-billion campaign slush fund of withheld money to release for maximum political effect before the election."

Another critic, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., asserted in budget hearings that the economy was being depressed by the withholding of programs "voted by the representatives of the people."

The Anderson statement speculated that a $500-million appropriation for water and sewer grants to cities "will be released just in time for the election."

Kleindienst Likely to Win Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard G. Kleindienst's nomination as attorney general appears headed for certain Senate approval, although some senators may go along reluctantly.

The appointment Tuesday of the 48-year-old deputy attorney general to replace John N. Mitchell was applauded by Senate conservatives but liberal Republicans were generally silent and some liberal Democrats critical.

However members of all factions in the Senate agreed Kleindienst will almost certainly win confirmation to head the Justice Department.

Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., said "I have the reservations a 'knee-jerk liberal' has to any nomination of this President."

But Hart said he expects to vote for the nomination if there are no disclosures of impropriety or moral defect about Kleindienst.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., like Hart a member of the Judiciary Committee that must first approve the nomination, said he will question Kleindienst on the administration's policy toward press freedom and other 1st Amendment guarantees he said the Nixon administration has stifled.

But Bayh, too, indicated those differences of opinion between him and the administration probably would not be sufficient cause to vote against the nomination.

Way Clear for Adjournment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate attached a minor amendment to the drug bill adopted by Gov. Dale Bumpers and then passed the bill today 32-0 and sent it to the House.

The House quickly concurred in the Senate amendment to the drug bill on a vote of 92-1.

Rep. Ivan Rose of Rogers, who spoke for the amendment, said the rider "did absolutely nothing" and was harmless.

He said that too many legislators who did not know anything about drugs and offering amendments to the comprehensive administration legislation had led to the failure of the governor's bill.

Rep. Frank Henslee of Pine Bluff said the measure would take care of the major problems and was "the best bill we could come up with under the circumstances."

The action cleared the way for expected final adjournment of special session at noon today.

The Senate already had approved on a voice vote a concurrent resolution introduced by Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock calling for final adjournment at noon. That resolution also was dispatched to the House.

The drug measure, House Bill 64, was offered by an ad hoc committee of legislators as a substitute for the administration's original drug proposal, which encountered still opposition and died in the House.

Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway held up the substitute bill most of Tuesday, but submitted it for consideration late in the day with the observation he had some objections and hoped to amend it. The Senate at that point put off plans to adjourn on Tuesday and made the drug measure a special order of business today.

Jones offered one amendment, which struck three words from the bill. Elimination of the words made the bill's section outlining arrest authority conform to an existing statute setting out general arrest authority.

Power Famine Causes British Unemployment

LONDON (AP) — Britain's coal strike and the resulting power famine sent the unemployment total above 2.5 million today, the highest since the Depression year of 1933, but the Trades Union Congress rejected a back-to-work appeal by Prime Minister Edward Heath.

With industry cut back to a three-day week because electric power stations can't get coal to fuel their generators, the Department of Employment said 1.2 million men and women, or 5 per cent of the working population, had been laid off since Monday.

Before that the unemployed total was 1,023,000, and 280,000 miners are on strike.

With the strike in its sixth week, 10 power plants shut down and 70 more reduced their output. The power cuts were increased 50 per cent today, increasing the blackout for homes, factories and offices to three three-hour periods.

Heath met with Victor Feather, general secretary of the 9-million-member TUC, and appealed to him to urge the miners back to work. Feather rejected the appeal and accused the government of mishandling the strike.

The miners are demanding a raise of $15.50 over their current basic pay of $49.40 a week. The National Coal Board has offered them half this amount; and an inquiry board is now holding hearings with the hope of reaching a recommendation by Friday.

Joe Gormley, president of the striking National Union of Mineworkers, said that if the tribunal's recommendations are not acceptable to his men, "I hesitate to think what will happen to Britain."

Unless the strike is settled and coal moves into the power stations by the end of the month, millions more will be thrown out of work in a wholesale shutdown of industry.

Only hospitals and other essential services will be left with electric power.

Shortages of bread, milk, sugar and fresh meat were reported. Supermarkets said housewives were rushing to buy canned goods despite assurances from the Food Manufacturers Federation that there was no need for panic buying.

Pollution was on the increase in some parts of the country because of cuts in power to sewage pumping stations.

With Heath and his government under increasing fire because of the power crisis, the prime minister faced up to a challenge on another front. He warned members of his Conservative party who oppose Britain's joining the European Common Market that the government would resign if it is defeated in a House of Commons vote Thursday night on the European Communities bill, a key piece of Common Market legislation.

Sadat Hints of New Soviet Arms

BEIRUT (AP) — President Anwar Sadat gave a broad hint today that the Soviet Union will supply advanced weapons enabling Egypt to make deep penetration raids against Israeli cities.

The Egyptian leader told a special session of the national congress of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt only political organization, that concentrated efforts lie ahead "to master the new and advanced weapons."

These efforts became imperative, he said, as a result of the Israeli decision to supply Israel with more Phantom fighter-bombers.

Sadat also told the congress Feb. 2 trip to the Soviet Union brought great successes in the way of mutual understanding and analysis of developments."

He indicated the Soviets have promised to supply Egypt with more weapons when he said, "We carry arms and we shall carry more arms," and again when he said, "We have to add to our forces to insure the enemy pays much more than we have to pay in the coming battle."

"We must be prepared for great losses, But we will inflict greater losses on the enemy, deep penetration losses should our country be hit in this way," he said.

This indicated he was promised weapons which would enable him to strike at Israeli cities far from the front line.

Details of his discussions in Moscow, he went on, will come out in secret sessions of the congress on Thursday.

Says Peking Will Ask Massive Economic Aid

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andre Malraux, the French intellectual called here to brief President Nixon on China's leaders, says Peking ultimately will seek massive economic aid from the United States.

"Such an undertaking, the equivalent of the Marshall Plan, this is the real issue" of Nixon's trip to China, the 70-year-old philosopher and former French government official said during a Tuesday news conference.

"The sign of success will of necessity be economic," Malraux said of the trip Nixon starts Thursday.

He first told the news conference through a translater that he "found the President optimistic as regards an (economic) agreement" and predicted a sympathetic response if Nixon believed the Chinese serious.

However, at a later session with a few reporters, Malraux said he doesn't expect Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung to ask Nixon for economic aid during this visit and he modified his earlier indication that economics was the paramount factor of the trip.

The White House has not provided its version of the Malraux-Nixon talks, which took place in two sessions Monday, after the administration announced a liberalization of U.S.-Chinese trade restrictions.

However, the effects of easing restraints on American exports to the mainland remain uncertain and tied to the outcome of the President's trip, according to State Department officials.

"Trade follows politics in these matters," one expert said in explaining the uncertainty of the decision's impact. He also indicated it is too early to put any price tag on the outcome of easing the restraints or to discuss specifics.

Under previous policy U.S.-Chinese commerce amounted to about $4 million, entirely by way of third nations and consisting of imports into the United States.

Even though the trade liberalization is not expected by American officials as having any immediate beneficial effects beyond establishing a better climate for the Nixon trip, they indicate China does offer a lucrative market as well as holding goods wanted in the United States.

These include tungsten and tung oil, both used in steel production; brush bristles, textiles, ingredients for aiair products, art works, rugs and pottery. Commercial experts said even in the chaotic years after World War II the exchange of these goods and U.S. products amounted to $100 million annually.

In his discussion, Malraux said Nixon's trip is "vitally important to world peace ... his attempt is a noble one.

Explaining that Mao's interest in raising the Chinese standard of living outweighs the revolutionary propaganda of the Peking government, Malraux said the Chinese leader believes only the United States has the capability of helping the Oriental giant reach industrial power.

Bombs Shatter Police Station

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Three bombs shattered windows in the Manchester police station and the new central fire department station early today and two persons were arrested.

Police said Karl A. Laaman, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y. and Kathryn A. Holt, 21, of Boston were charged with illegal transportation of explosives.

Police said Laaman was arrested minutes after the blast and had an injured left hand. He was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

A torn and bloodied glove was found at the scene of the explosions.

Miss Holt was arrested about an hour after the blast.

No policemen or firemen were injured.

Police Capt. William Luther said one bomb went off outside the station and blew out two large windows. Ten minutes later, Luther said, another bomb exploded in the same area.

DISCUSSES

Frazier arranged the program and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Worthey is a member of the Hempstead County Antique Collectors Club, an organization that grew out of a Bottle Club. She had on display items from the collections of club members, consisting of bottles of various kinds, china, fruit jars, butter molds, carnival glass, cut glass, and cast iron.

"Before becoming a collector there are a few things one needs to consider", said Mrs. Worthey, "How much room do I have for my collection; will it be necessary for me to move to a larger place or add a room for my antiques? How much money can I afford to invest in this hobby; will it take more than I can afford? How much time will I have to devote to collecting, cleaning, and displaying my treasurers; will it be necessary to neglect some things that are really more important?"

Mrs. Worthey stated that digging in trash piles is a family affair when one member becomes addicted to the hobby, and she warned, "Don't let the bug bite you unless you expect to be afflicted for the rest of your life, for there's no cure."

Guests at Tuesday's meeting were J.W. Carpenter of Little Rock, Kiwanian George Covington of Conway, George Wright, Jr., and Key Clubbers Bill Artebury and Jim Gunter all of Hope.

Author's Wife Plans to Surrender Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyers for Mrs. Clifford Irving say she plans to surrender today for arraignment. The wife of the controversial author of the Howard Hughes "autobiography" is charged in a warrant obtained by the Swiss government with counterfeiting, forgery and theft larceny.

U.S. Magistrate Martin D. Jacobs issued the warrant Tuesday on a complaint charging that Mrs. Irving, 36, was a "fugitive from justice of the confederation of Switzerland." It said she is charged with "counterfeiting and forgery, use of counterfeited or forged instruments, embezzlement, and theft larceny."

The charges were the first to be made in the case under investigation by two grand juries here. It involves the authenticity of the purported autobiography of Hughes as compiled by Irving.

Irving claims the book, which was to have been published by McGraw-Hill Inc. and excerpted in Life magazine, was assembled from more than 100 interviews he conducted with the reclusive billionaire. Denials of any such meetings or even knowledge of the author have been attributed to Hughes.

Time magazine has branded the work a hoax, pirated from another manuscript.

Irving has said that his wife, Edith, a Swiss citizen, deposited in a Swiss bank $650,000 in checks from McGraw-Hill, using a passport in the name of "Helga R. Hughes." The money was intended as payment for Hughes.

Mrs. Irving later withdrew the money and deposited $442,000 of it in another Swiss bank under another name, Swiss authorities said.

Mrs. Irving took the news of the warrant calmly in her hotel suite after her lawyer, Maurice Nessen, called to say she should surrender herself.

Documents said to contain the signature of Hughes have been sent to New York from the Nevada State Gaming Control Board.

A New York City police handwriting expert has testified before the grand jury that he believed signatures were forged in correspondence Irving claimed Hughes had written.

Handwriting experts hired by McGraw-Hill have reversed their earlier finding that the signatures were authentic.

Extradition cannot be effected until proof has been established of the suspected individual's identity and sufficient evidence presented that a crime was committed.

Davis Plans to Resigns

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Lawrence A. Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College, said Tuesday he no longer had a future at the predominantly black school at Pine Bluff.

He made the comment to newsmen at the Capitol minutes after the Senate refused to delay a merger of Arkansas AM&N with the University of Arkansas.

Davis said he was present to see "an all-white legislature close its ears to the cries and pleas of black people."

With Davis was Hurley Jones, who announced that lawyer John W. Walker of Little Rock would file on behalf of the AM&N Alumni Association a lawsuit challenging the scheduled July 1 merger into the University of Arkansas.

When the merger was passed last year, Davis expressed support for the law, but he said Tuesday he had changed his mind.

Davis had said previously he would not "serve or mis-serve one day" as AM&N chancellor, the position he would occupy after the merger. Asked Tuesday if this mean he would resign, Davis replied, "You interpret that as you wish."

A reporter suggested he would not accept appointment as chancellor and Davis answered, "It could be interpreted that way and I wouldn't debate it."

Davis declined to make clear whether he might stay at AM&N in some position other than chaccellor if one were offered to him, but he said he never had been "cut out" to be a college president.

Grant for Augusta

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Economic Development Agency has approved a $315,000 grant for construction of a county services building in Augusta (Woodruff County).

The office of Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said the grant will cover the total cost of the project. Alexander's office said work on the project is expected to begin within 45 days and that the project will provide jobs for about 75 persons.

Illinois Excavations Date Back 7,000 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — Excavations near a small Illinois town may show that the largest concentrations of prehistoric people in North America lived in the Middle West, an archeologist says.

Although more evidence of habitations exist in the Pacific Northwest and the Southwest because of differences in building materials and climate, Dr. Stuart Struever said Tuesday that excavations in Southern Illinois are yielding information about how man lived in the area 7,000 and more years ago.

Struever of Northwestern University heads a group of scientists and students who have been digging the past two summers near Kampsville, a town near the confluence of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers.

Struever said diggings down to 34 feet found ruins of 14 prehistoric Indian villages. They are stacked layer-cake fashion and each is separated by a layer of soil.

Among the things found: the remains of an 18-month-old child buried 5000 B.C.; women's hairpins and beads dating from 2500 B.C.; the skeletal remains of a man buried 4,500 years ago. The man's skeleton showed evidence of arthritis.

Struever said there is no evidence that the people of the region engaged in warfare until 800 to 1000 A.D., after the development of agriculture.

More Christmas Card Blues

Dear Helen:

I agree: Christmas cards are overdone. My husband and I sent out over 300 last year, notes included with many of them (I can't bring myself to the mimeographed sheet). Between the cost of having cards made and postage, it's an amount that would make a sizeable contribution to charity.

I'd rather keep in touch with people I really care about at other times, when I can write something interesting. Local or business friends in town? A personal holiday wish is sufficient, but how, when they always send YOU cards? Makes you feel cheap.

One acquaintance hit on a solution. He had a portrait made of his family and bought space in the newspaper, where it was printed with their holiday greeting below, together with an explanation that they weren't sending cards this year. Of course, that doesn't solve the problem of faraway casual friends—all of whom receive so many cards they don't have time to read them.—DIS-CARDED

Dear Dis:

Why not, when you send friendly notes throughout the year, suggest that the recipients do likewise and eliminate a lot of Christmas scribbling blues? (I know a woman who sends her holiday cards during the summer--says people appreciate them more.) So long as friends know they aren't forgotten, they may welcome the chance to say "hello" at quieter seasons.

..Local acquaintances? Wish them a personal "Merry Christmas" and make a pact that they do the same—with the money saved going to a worthy cause. The key is—"Don't weaken!" Gook luck.—H.

P.S. One of my young correspondents went the "recycling" route last year. She sent me a secondhand card, with the first signature crossed out and hers added—in an envelope formerly addressed to her, but with mine pasted over it on an address-label. And—get this: she had erased the cancellation mark while leaving the old stamp intact. On the back of the envelope she wrote, "Fight pollution: this is a recycled greeting."

Know something? The Postal Service routed it through without even charging me "postage due." (Don't try it, readers. It is illegal and clerks may be more alert next time. —H.

Dear Helen:

While the pros and cons of the abortion issue rage, those most qualified to speak remain silent. I mean the girls who have had abortions. Some come through with few traumas. Then there are others, like our daughter...

Being a liberal-minded person, I was pro-abortion. When our teenager became pregnant, we arranged for one, with her approval. By then, she saw what Mike really was.

Instead of solving the problem, abortion opened up a Pandora's box. Our Nora became more and more depressed. Out of guilt, she began seeing Mike again. He managed to convince her that she was no good, that no other boy would marry her, that she "owed" him her life because she had "wronged" him. She lost all self-confidence and pride. Finally, after long hours of therapy, she began to see light and broke with him.

Since then she has been trying to rebuild, but it isn't easy. She's now seeing a fine young man, but she worries about how he'll react when she tells him.

From our experience, we find abortion a harrowing thing. Could we hear from others who have been through it?—FULL OF REGRET

Dear For:

You'll hear it almost equally from both sides, I think—for each person reacts differently to abortion—and sometimes the reaction amazes even the girl involved. This is why I continue to believe that expert counseling is necessary before the final decision. Abortion on demand works for many, but there are those, like your daughter, who need to know themselves better before they take the step.—H.

Supper Planned

Final plans were made for the chicken-spaghetti luncheon at the First United Methodist Church, Thursday, February 17, at a meeting of Circle 5, WSCS, on Monday, February 14, in the home of Mrs. Bob Parham with Mrs. Dale Flowers, co-hostess. The vice-president, Mrs. Flowers, also presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. Terry Becherer discussed the "Jesus Revolution" for a most enlightening program. The ecumenical movement is no "fad," she explained, and the largest number of young people involved are the "straight" or not radical ones. Using a Valentine theme, the hostesses served dessert with coffee, tea, or cold drinks.

Methodist Kindergarten Has Valentine Party

On Monday, February 14, the children of Methodist Kindergarten enjoyed a Valentines Day party at the kindergarten. Early in the previous week the children set up their school post office with individual mail sacks for each child. In organizing for work in the post office, Beth Graves was made Post mistress, Charla Townsend, Pat Moers, Arty Mhoon, Gil Burke, and Lloyd Bass were mail clerks. Assistant clerks were: Kelley Riggs, Mike Vines and John Garrett. The children gained experience in reading names when mailing their valentines.

To further carry out the unit of study of the postoffice, the children made a trip to a street mail box in the neighborhood. For this field trip Trey Sharpe and Michael May were traffic policemen. The group discussed the necessity for purchasing stamps for mailing letters through the United States postal service, and each child was allowed to stamp and mail a valentine to himself.

The group planned the party for Monday, prepared the refreshments, and decorated their rooms.

Births

Lt. and Mrs. Jerry Turner, Ft. Eustis, Va., announce the birth of a son on February 14. This young man has 16 grandparents, great-grandparents, and great-great-grandparents. In Hope, great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bearden, and great-great-grandmothers are Mrs. J. W. Turner and Mrs. W. B. Bearden.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with the movies-for-TV series that are all over the networks is that they are grab-bags. One week there may appear a sensitive drama and the next, pure trash.

It seemed, in advance, that Tuesday night's "Movie of the Week," billed as a comedy, was worth some attention in spite of the title, "Call Her Mom."

In the first place, the "Movie of the Week" record has been pretty good. And Jerry Parris, a top comedy director, guided the 90-minute program, a pilot for a series. Finally, Connie Stevens was the star. Although Connie has not done well in television since "Hawaiian Eye" years ago, she has proved an attractive star of variety shows and night clubs. It seemed time for her TV number to come up again.

All signs were misleading. "Call Her Mom" may not have been the worst show of the season, but it certainly was a contender.

A pizza joint waitress—Miss Stevens—was hired to become the housemother of a college fraternity house. Unfortunately, the comedy failed to turn up. The "frat" went out with Rudy Vallee and raccoon coats and the jokes had been interred before that.

Van Johnson came closest to an interesting character: a college president more interested in developing his TV image and plugging his latest book than in running a college. But even this was handled so heavily it was assaultive.

There was no excuse for such a show except that business in Hollywood is reputed to be very bad these days. Perhaps so many of these 90-minute and two-hour filmed features are being turned out these days that quality has been sacrificed for quantity, a fast shooting schedule and a low budget. Miss Stevens and everybody involved deserved better.

CBS launched its late evening movies, replacing "The Merv Griffin Show" on Monday night with a pretty good, seven-year-old film, "A Patch of Blue," which has been on TV before. If the New York area ratings are typical of the rest of the country—often they are not—Johnny Carson and NBC's "Tonight Show" is still tops with stay-up-late viewers.

While the movie did better than Merv has been doing, Carson's audience, as he started a three-week stay in Hollywood, was bigger than those for the CBS movie and ABC's Dick Cavett combined.

Saratoga got past Genoa Central handily by a score of 81 to 69. Genoa Central stayed fairly close in the opening quarter but midway of the second period the Bulldogs had a 10 point lead and Genoa Central was never able to slice it. The victory came in spite of a 43 point effort by Genoa Central's fabulous Steve Mason who hit 15 of 35 from the field and got 13 of 14 foul shots.

Cale took a 36 to 6 first quarter lead over Lanebutt and the outcome was never in doubt. Allen Yarbrough led the winners with 20 points.

Hope Loses Three

In play last night two local teams dropped decisions to Arkadelphia. Fighting hard all the way the Hope Bobcats just couldn't do enough in the final quarter and lost a conference victory to Arkadelphia Badgers 56 to 41.

Earlier the B-Bruins took a lead, lost it, caught up again and lost it again in the final period to the Badger B-team 33 to 30.

Cincinnati Coach Quits

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tay Baker announced his resignation Tuesday as head basketball coach of the University of Cincinnati saying he feared "leaks" and "didn't want to read about my resignation in the sports pages."

Baker said he was leaving at the end of the season but would remain a physical education teacher at the school, at a lower salary.

Baker, 44, has a 130-59 record at the university.

He said he told the players "in no way, not individually, nor collectively, were they responsible for my decision. I told them they had developed greatly and had a great future."

The team has a 12-8 record.

Hustlin Greek in Feature

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Hustlin Greek and State Edition, an entry owned by Mrs. J. O'Bryant and Mrs. Rusty Belt, head a field of nine 3-year-olds in today's $6,500 allowance feature at Oaklawn Park.

State Edition is top-weighted at 122 pounds and Hustlin Greek will carry 118 pounds.

Others to go over the six furlongs are Lizabeth L., 110; Dress Maker, 110; Lil Laura, 110; Gay Hospitality, 110; Kingdom's Prince, 115; Excello, 116; and Romanoaks Girl, 110.

Glenda Wilson, an 18-year-old female jockey, will make her Oaklawn debut today.

The petite jockette will be aboard Eternal Beauty in the first race, a three-furlong dash for 2-year-olds.

Miss Wilson, from Collinsville, Ill., has ridden 15 times in her career but never aboard a winner.

In 1971, Paula Herber and Kim Sawyer became the first female riders to compete at Oaklawn. Neither won during the meet.

John D. Askew's Jovial John took over the lead in the backstretch and held on gamely to beat Clem's Star by a head in Tuesday's $8,500 feature at Oaklawn.

The four-year-old gelding turned up the course in the final half to post the second best time for 5½ furlongs during the meeting—1:042-5. That was one second slower than Road Man posed in a Feb. 5 victory.

Jovial John paid $9.20, $4.80, and $4.20 as second choice in the field of 11. Favorite Clem's Star returned $5.00 and $4.00, and Bopdavelle paid $5.60 to show.

The daily double combination of Gallant Davelle with Phil Grimm aboard in the first and Shesa Sweeting with Kenny Jones up in the second, Nos. 3 and 2, returned $73.60.

The crowd of 9,324 wagered $797,423.

Juniors Bombed by Fairview in District Tournament

By BILL MOORE
Star Sportswriter

Unable to keep pace in the second half of play, the Hope Bobkittens were bombed in the opening round of the Junior Boys Tournament by the Fairview Cardinals.

Hope stayed within a five to seven point radius through most of the game, but the Cardinals made some quick shots in the final period's early stages.

Although Fairview picked off the opening tip, the Cardinals were unable to capitalize, and a minute later with 5:27 showing on the clock, Mike Hobson hit the first two points of the game.

With several fowls being committed, both teams kept plugging away at the scoreboard, but Fairview showed better with a 15-11 lead, moving into the second period of play.

As the Kittens took the second tipoff, Johnny Harris was fouled and sank both ends of a one and one shot to move Hope within two, 15-13. Seconds later the same event occurred as Harris sank two free shots again to knot the score at 15 all and playing some good man to man defense, the Bobkittens soon held a four point margin.

With both teams playing fairly cautious the half soon ended with a 22-all tie and more excitement for both teams.

As the third period progressed the Kittens fell behind by seven points, but as the buzzer sounded, Jimmy Williams hit a layup to narrow the score to five points, Fairview holding a slim 36-31, margin.

Unable to overcome the deficit, Hope soon found themselves in trouble as Fairview hit several three point plays to slowly pull away.

During the last two minutes both teams began to empty their benches, and by the time the game was over, Fairview had claimed a 15 point victory, thus ending the Bobkitten season.

Long Game for Pacers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They made the game too long for the Indiana Pacers, Virginia Squires and Pittsburgh Condors Tuesday night.

The three teams blew fourth-period leads and dropped American Basketball Association contests to the Kentucky Colonels, Dallas Chaparrals and Carolina Cougars.

The scores were Kentucky 101, Indiana 99; Dallas 116, Virginia 111 and Carolina 126, Pittsburgh 113. In other games, Utah beat Memphis 118-99 and the Floridians nipped Denver 125-124 in overtime.

Kentucky trailed Indiana 81-75 entering the final period but reeled off 11 straight points to go ahead to stay. Dan Issel led the way with 31 points, Artis Gilmore had 29 and Cincy Powell 23. Bob Netolicky paced Indiana with 27.

Dallas trailed Virginia by eight points late in the third quarter but Joe Hamilton hit a 40-foot three-pointer just before the buzzer to start a rally which carried over into the final period. Virginia's Julius Erving led all scorers with 27 points while Rich Jones had 25 and Donnie Freeman 23 for the Chaps.

Carolina trailed Pittsburgh by 17 points in the first half but narrowed the lead to two by the end of the third quarter. The Cougars tied the score early in the final stanza and went in front for good on Joe Caldwell's layup.

Gene Littles scored a career high 34 points to pace the winners while the Condors were led by George Thompson with 27 points, Dave Lattin with 26 and Bob Verga with 23.

Utah led from the start in posting its fifth win in a row and saddling Memphis with its sixth consecutive loss. Willie Wise paced the Stars' balanced attack with 22 points and Zelmo Beaty added 21. Charlie Williams of Memphis had 24, including four three-point goals.

Craig Raymond's short jump shot with one minute left in overtime enabled the Floridians to defeat Denver although Mack Calvin was high man with 33 points and Manny Leaks added 23. Denver's Ralph Simpson scored two of his game-high 35 points on a layup with 39 seconds to send the contest into overtime.

Lakers Have New Factor in Scoring

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There was Tonto, Little Beaver, Robin, Dr. Watson and Gabby Hayes. And now there's Pat Riley.

The sidekicks of the Lone Ranger, Red Ryder, Batman, Sherlock Holmes and Hopalong Cassady have been joined by the guard of the Los Angeles Lakers among the assistants of the world's heroes.

Thus while Gail Goodrich, Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain and the rest of the Lakers were attempting to dispose of the pesky Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night, Riley made his entrance to post career bests for points and rebounds in a 125-118 triumph.

Often overlooked, Riley has been a key factor in the Laker success this season, his fifth in the rugged National Basketball Association.

Elsewhere, Boston beat Portland 111-104, Baltimore whipped Houston 113-98, Atlanta downed Detroit 113-105 and Golden State shaded Buffalo 103-100.

Coach Bill Sharman admitted Riley played well Tuesday night but said his super reserve has been consistently great off the bench.

"The key to Riley's play," said Sharman, "is the first two or three shots. If he hits them, he goes. So for him to do well, he's got to look for good shots early, hit them and that gets him untracked."

The Lakers led 20-16 early in the game when the Royals scored 14 points in a row to grab a 10-point lead. In came Riley to score eight points in 11 minutes as the Lakers closed the gap to six. And when they trailed by nine after one period, Riley stayed in and propelled Los Angeles to a 40-point quarter.

His overall statistics: 12 of 17 shots from the floor, 3 of 3 from the free throw line in 27 minutes of playing time, nine rebounds, 27 points and hustle on the fast break.

A fourth-quarter Boston explosion ignited by Dave Cowens powered the Celtics over the Trail Blazers. Cowens poured in nine of his 21 points in the final frame as Boston scored nine consecutive points to break open the game.

John Havlicek led all scorers with 31 points in helping Boston to its 10th triumph in the last 11 starts. Rookie Sidney Wicks led Portland with 30 points.

Jack Marin scored 39 points and Wes Unseld grabbed 18 rebounds as Baltimore snapped an eight-game losing streak by beating Houston. Marin and Archie Clark scored 13 points apiece in the third period as the Bullets, ahead by only five at the half, roared to an 89-70 bulge.

Clark contributed 29 points while Elvin Hayes led the Rockets with 31. Baltimore's Phil Chenier and Houston's Mike Newlin were ejected for a second-period fight.

A 22-11 spurt in the third period carried Atlanta past Detroit. The Pistons trimmed the Hawks' lead to 107-104 with 1:29 left but two free throws by Pete Maravich and four by Lou Hudson secured the triumph.

Hudson finished with 26 points, Maravich 25 and Walt Bellamy 22 as the Hawks remained three games behind Baltimore in the Central Division. Bob Lanier had 28 and Dave Bing 27 for Detroit. The game was played with only one official, Jack Madden, when his partner failed to show.

Cazzie Russell's 32 points, including two last-minute free throws, sparked Golden State over Buffalo. The Warriors led by as many as 16 points before a Buffalo comeback brought the Braves to within 96-95 with 1:28 remaining. But Jim Barnett hit a field goal and free throw and Russell and Jeff Mullins added two foul shots apiece to lock up the victory. Mullins scored 24 points while Mike Davis paced the losers.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We got off to a great start against California," Boston Coach Tom Johnson said. "We came out skating and were in the right spot at the right time."

Mike Walton, Derek Sanderson, Johnny Bucyk and Ace Bailey were in the right spot when Bobby Orr was unleashing his shots Tuesday night.

The result was Boston's 6-3 National Hockey League victory over the Golden Seals, extending to 23 games the Bruins' unbeaten home streak, within five of the NHL record set by Montreal in 1943-44.

It also kept Boston eight points ahead of New York in the East Division as the Rangers whipped Vancouver 5-1. In the night's only other game, Chicago edged St. Louis 3-2.

Orr didn't get a goal against the Seals. But the Boston defenseman, runaway leader in assists, provided four—all of them in the Bruins' five-goal first period—to raise his season total to 62.

His first came on Bucyk's 24th goal of the year just 1:33 into the game. Sanderson scored the first of his two goals in the game just three minutes later, again with Orr helping out, and Bailey made it 3-0 at 13:13.

Orr then tried to put it in with long slap shots. Each time he missed—but each time Walton was there for the rebounds and his 20th and 21st goals, just 68 seconds apart.

Gary Croteau, Wayne Craleton and Iva Boldirev made it respectable for California while Sanderson made sure the Seals wouldn't catch up with his second goal and 17th of the season.

Jean Ratelle was the big gun for the Rangers, scoring the hat trick with his 37th, 38th and 39th goals of the year.

His first came just 13 seconds into the game and his second, the tie-breaking winner, came four seconds from the end of the second period.

Glen Sather and Vic Hadfield also tallied for New York before Ratelle scored No. 3 of the game into an empty net in the closing minutes. Bob Schmautz averted a Canucks' shutout.

Rhode Island, Frogs Pull Big Upsets

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They had a Friars roast in New England and a Frog feast in the Southwest.

It made a very interesting recipe of college basketball games Tuesday night.

Rhode Island upset the 13th-ranked Providence Friars 75-73 and the Texas Christian Horned Frogs snapped Southern Methodist's seven-game winning streak with a 93-84 triumph that tightened the Southwest Conference race.

"Maybe we were a little flat after a tough trip," said Providence Coach Dave Gavitt, whose team was snowed in Sunday at the Buffalo airport after a game with St. Bonaventure.

In Fort Worth, Tex., Simpson DeGrate scored 36 points and seized 21 rebounds, helping the runnerup Frogs cut SMU's conference lead to one game.

Missouri, ranked 15th, turned back Nebraska 80-65 in another key game and took over sole possession of first place in the Big Eight Conference.

Rhode Island, leading 35-31 at the half, fattened its margin to 14 points before Marvin Barnes and Ernie DiGregorio led a Providence rally. But key baskets by Steve Rowell, who led the winners with 20 points, halted the comeback try.

Barnes led all scorers with 23 and DiGregorio had 22.

"They beat us on the boards," said Gavitt. "They did a lot of good things inside."

TCU hit its first four shots from the field before a screaming hometown full house of more than 7,000 at Daniel Meyer Coliseum. The Horned Frogs, propelled by DeGrate, roared into a commanding 49-37 halftime lead.

Larry Delzell had 26 points for SMU, whose conference mark slipped to 7-2. TCU now is 6-3 in the Southwest.

Texas A&M, also a contender in the Southwest derby, moved closer to the top with an 86-85 triumph over Arkansas; Wisconsin stopped Purdue 84-65, Iowa trimmed Illinois 87-84, Kansas State beat Kansas 78-66 and Boston College turned back St. John's N.Y. 70-66 in other games.

Aggies Nip Porks, Frogs Upset SMU

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Thanks to an aroused performance by defending champion Texas Christian and jumping jack Simpson Degrate the Southwest Conference basketball race is back to normal—utter chaos.

The Horned Frogs whipped league-leading Southern Methodist 93-84 before a sellout 7,232 partisans in Daniel Meyer Coliseum Tuesday night and shaved the Mustagng's bulge over the SWC pack to a thin game. TCU, Texas A&M, Texas Tech and Texas own 6-3 records on the heels of SMU's 7-2 slate.

"It's a horse race now...it's a brand new game," said an elated TCU Coach Johnn Swaim. "We had to win this one or they would have been mighty hard to catch."

Texas A&M nicked Arkansas 86-85, Texas Tech outlasted Rice 80-76 and Texas blasted Baylor 90-70 in the other Tuesday night action.

Degrate turned in his finest performance as a Horned Frog with 36 points and 21 rebounds as TCU halted SMU's seven game winning streak.

"We've played awful well the last four games," said Swaim. "I don't know how long we can maintain our peak. Degrate was just fabulous. He was leaping out of the gymnasium. He stayed out of foul trouble for once and that sure does help."

Larry Delzell was the only Mustang who could find the scoring range with 26 points. SMU's sparkplug guard Zach Thiel was held to four points and high-scoring Ruben Triplett made only 11 points.

Tech had all it could handle in subduing winless Rice which is now 0-9 in SWC play.

"we had to struggle but Rice played a heckuva game and they're going to beat somebody before the year is over," said Red Raider Coach Gerald Myers. "We kept our poise...and it's a good thing."

Greg Lowery, as usual, paced the Red Raider attack with 30 points. However, Ralph Palomar scored 17 of his 22 points in the last half to help the Riaders beat off the Owls.

Randy Knowles scored 23 points as the Aggies outlasted the hard-fighting Razorbacks. Arkansas is now 2-7 for the season.

Senior Scooter Lennox scored 25 points and Larry Robinson added 20 as Texas stayed in title contention. The loss dropped the Bears to a 3-6 record in SWC play. Pat Fees had 20 points for the losers.

SMU, Texas and A&M are on the road Saturday night in another set of crucial games.

SMU plays at Arkansas while the Aggies are at TCU and the Longhorns are at Tech. Rice is at Baylor in the other game.

Jr. Olympic Cage Play

Here are the results of games played in the Girls Midget and Junior Division at the Guernsey Gym. In the first game Mountaire Kitchens defeated Anthony Lumber Co. by the score of 27 to 13. Ward Bostic sank 12 points for the losers. In the second game Deanna Drug topped B&R Lumber Co. by the score of 16 to 10. Wright scored 10 for Deanna and Freel led B&R with 8 points. In the third game Wylie Glass and Salvage edged KXAR 33 to 27. Monk led the victors with 13 points, while Martin had 17 for the losers.

The Girls Junior Division All-Star Team will compete in the Junior Olympic Championship to be held in North Little Rock on Saturday, February 19.

Phoenix Draws Casper

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Billy Casper was a surprise late entrant in the $125,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament and his presence helped greatly to bolster the sagging prestige of this troubled event.

"I really hadn't planned on playing," Casper said today before a practice round at the Phoenix Country Club. "I'd planned on taking a week off.

"But I'd been playing so badly for so long and then last week I kind of got it all together for awhile, I thought I'd keep on going."

The 40-year-old Casper, one of golf's three $1-million prize winners and holder of more than 40 tour titles, rallied for a final-round 67 and a tie for sixth last week in the long, tough Bob Hope Desert Classic.

It was his best showing in several months on the pro tour and prompted Casper to disregard the pleading of his wife, Shirley, to take some time off.

His entry in the 144-man field served as a major boost to the sponsoring Thunderbirds, a local civic organization, which found themselves lacking a major television contract and most of the game's great stars.

Local sports columnists wondered in print if this was a crossroads for continuance of the tournament, one of the two western events lacking a celebrrity tie-up and the only one without a major TV contract.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino, the game's biggest drawing cards, are taking a week off to get ready for next week's big, $260,000 Jackie Gleason Invarrary Classic.

But Phoenix, with last-minute entries helping to boost the field, has come up with the winners of five of this year's six tournaments—George Archer, Paul Harney, Grier Jones, Bob Rosburg and defending champion Miller Barber—for the 72-hole event that starts Thursday.

Also on hand are England's Tony Jacklin and a cadre of young stars who are coming into their own—Jerry Heard, Johnny Miller and Lanny Wadkins.

No Action on AM&N Merger

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The legislature resurrected the Arkansas AM&N College merger issue Tuesday, but entered it again and also polished off all but one of what remained of the obstacles to final adjournament.

Drug legislation was the major item unsettled between the House and Senate, but agreement on that seemed assured today.

In other actions, the two chambers approved and sent to Gov. Dale Bumpers bills to:

—Establish a system of state grants to local sewer projects but without the $10 million revenue bond issue plan Bumpers had proposed.

—Appropriate $3 million, rather than $1 million, to begin the sewer project grant plan.

—Set this year's primaries on May 30 and June 13 with a filing period of March 14 to April 4.

—Create a group health insurance program for an estimated 16,000 state employes.

The Senate also approved a bill to permit an Arkansas candidate for president or vice president to seek any other office in the state for which he would be eligible. The House approved this bill Monday. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., wanted the legislation so he could seek re-election even if he becomes a presidential candidate.

The AM&N merger into the University of Arkansas, set by law for July 1, has been vigorously opposed by black groups as a white takeover of the predominantly black Pine Bluff college.

But a Bumpers bill to appropriate $103,000 for AM&N operations became a vehcile for attempts to postpone the merger until July 1, 1973.

Last Friday, the Senate killed an amendment offered by Sen. W. K. Ingram of West Memphis to delay the consolidation while the state Board of Higher Education studied the merger to make recommendations to the 1973 legislature.

Then the Senate passed the bill itself, but that action violated the Constitution, which says a bill can't be approved by both legislative chambers on the same day. That bill had been approved by the House on Friday and sent to the Senate for action.

Little War Enlivens

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A funny little war, but not without serious overtones, has enlivened the Senate several times in the last few days.

The combat, generally good-humored, has been between Sens. Oscar Alagood and Ben Allen, both of Little Rock and both occupants of Pulaski County's District 5 under the new legislative districting plan.

If the plan survives a lawsuit challenging it in federal District Court here, the two must oppose each other this year to retain office. Until then, each is the other's constituent.

"My senator," Alagood has begun to say of Allen.

Allen, in turn, has from time to time offered suggestions to Alagood while acting as "his senator."

Most of it has been in a light and friendly vein.

But some interesting potential issues have developed, too.

For example, Alagood has attempted five times to amend bills to set some kind of ceiling on the amount that may be spent for election to political office.

The first would have set a limit equal to nine times the salary for the office sought. It failed twice.

One would have set a limit of 15 cents per resident in the district in which the office was sought. It failed.

One would have set a limit of 25 cents per resident. Ditto.

And the last would have set a limit of 50 cents per voter. Nixed, too.

Allen opposed them all.

At one point, in fact, Allen called out from his Senate desk, "I've already spent that much." The limit at issue then was one of nine times the office's salary.

Later, Allen said he was only joking. "I just told someone it would be an ex-post-facto law for me," he laughed.

Other senators have said, though, that the Allen-Alagood race is shaping up as a vigorous one and that Allen already has three persons on his campaign payroll.

Alagood has suggested that Allen has more financial resources than himself. The amendments were characterized by Alagood as "my poor boy amendments."

When Allen was asked during a debate Tuesday how long it would take to merge businesses the size of Arkansas AM&N College and the University of Arkansas, he began by saying he had never owned any businesses of such size.

Alagood, at his desk, called out, "Hah," or some such skeptical remark.

The AM&N—U of A merger issue put Alagood and Allen on separate sides. Allen opposed delaying the merger, Alagood favored it. Their district has only a small black population.

School Trouble at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Classes were to be resumed at Pine Bluff High School today following a day of racial unrest.

A disagreement over the theme of the senior prom between black and white pupils led to an early dismissal Tuesday.

Two fights were reported between black and white pupils. No injury was reported.

Principal Elgie Goss said tempers flared at a meeting of the senior class, which was deciding the theme. White pupils wanted a Roaring Twenties theme and black pupils wanted a Color My World theme.

The blacks walked out and Goss asked the group of about 100 to follow him to the cafeteria to discuss the problem.

Enemy Strength in South Is Puzzle

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Somehow, about 90,000 of the enemy have disappeared from South Vietnam since last year.

Whether most of them ever were there is open to question.

In his annual report to Congress, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday there are at least 150,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

In his report nearly a year ago, Laird spoke of at least 240,000 enemy in the South.

Such a drastic drop in enemy strength in just a year's time is puzzling because Defense officials have been saying they believe most new soldiers were infiltrated from North Vietnam to replace battlefield losses.

When asked to explain the 90,000 decrease, the Pentagon said Laird's statements "probably involve a shifting of identified units in Cambodia or Laos as well as other refinements not reflected in last year's defense report."

However, the Defense secretary's figures on Cambodia show an increase of only about 5,000 North Vietnamese and other Communist soldiers over last year's 55,000-plus. This would not suggest any major movement of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam into Cambodia in 1971.

As for Laos, Laird's report estimated current North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao strength there is at least 120,000, a decrease of about 25,000 from a year ago. This, too, would seem to discount the likelihood that significant numbers of enemy troops were shifted from South Vietnam into Laos.

The Pentagon said its intelligence specialists are collecting and evaluating data continuously and that this "normally results in more precise data.

"As unit identifications, strengths, and locations are verified and updated," the Pentagon said, it becomes possible "to eliminate duplicate reports, units operating under two or more designators and other such features that mask the true picture of enemy strengths."

However, military officers and civilian officials acknowledge in private that they have reservations about figures on enemy strength.

The validity of statistics on enemy casualties and infiltration rates have been debated throughout the war.

Things to Do Without

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:

Fifty-cent cups of restaurant coffee.

Marriages arranged by computers.

People who are no different from each other than processed pieces of cheese individually wrapped in identical pieces of colorless plastic.

The high cost of low living.

Hockey fans. If they are more interested in bloodshed than sport, why don't they enlist and go to a war?

People who never ate Chinese chop suey since the Korean War, but who now do in the belief that it has become patriotic.

Suburbanites who would rather have one of their kids come down with diphtheria than get their lawns infected with crabgrass.

Any substance mixed with eggplant in an attempt to give it a flavor.

Health nuts who refuse to drink water in your house unless it comes out of a bottle instead of a faucet.

People at funerals who make such remarks as, "Well, that's life for you—here today, gone tomorrow."

Any lady who starts dyeing her hair red after the age of 60.

Women drivers whose precarious steering causes more accidents, to others than they get into themselves.

The singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" when you can't hear the ending because the umpire yelled, "Play ball!"

Guests at a cocktail party who try to regain their aplomb by calling for a fifth martini after spilling a dish of peanuts all over the rug.

Passengers who, when your car breaks down, immediately ask, "Are you sure you're not out of gas?"

Acquaintances who say to a reporter, "I read your story in the newspaper today. What's the real story?"

The sound of apartment neighbors quarreling, particularly when they shout too low for you to understand just what the fuss is all about.

Any political speech more than 10-minutes long made by any political candidate about any political issue whatsoever between now and November.

Feeling compelled to murmur "Gesundheit" when someone you don't like has just sneezed.

People who brag they've just inherited money but who won't tell you how much.

From these and other infidictions, deliver us. Amen.

Big Buildup in South Is Predicted by Allies

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Allied intelligence projections indicate 70 per cent more North Vietnamese troops will move into South Vietnam or into the areas just across its western borders during the first five months of this year than did so in the same period last year, U.S. military sources said today.

The sources also indicated that American air forces would keep up their heavy strikes across Indochina during President Nixon's visit to Red China next week.

They said that Feb. 21, the day Nixon arrives in China, had been mentioned in captured North Vietnamese and Viet Cong documents so many times as the starting date for an offensive that it couldn't be discounted.

The sources, seeking to back up their contention that a major North Vietnamese buildup is under way along the western frontier, said projections indicate 66,000 fresh enemy troops would move south by the end of May, compared to 39,000 for the same period a year ago.

The sources said North Vietnam has committed four of its strategic reserve divisions numbering about 40,000 men.

The sources said the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops committed to South Vietnam declined generally during the past three years but began rising again last December.

At the end of last November, they continued, the total enemy strength in the country and along its borders was estimated at 195,000. But by the end of December it had climbed back to 200,000. Another 63,000 Viet Cong underground agents were estimated to be operating in the South.

Figures for January and February are not available yet.

In his annual report to Congress Tuesday, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said at least 150,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were in South Vietnam and along its borders at the end of last year. But the sources in Saigon said he apparently did not include about 50,000 support troops.

From the battlefronts, meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported 46 air strikes by American fighter-bombers in South Vietnam during the 12 night hours after the allies' Tet cease-fire ended at 6 p.m. Tuesday. B52 bombers logged seven missions.

Scores more raids were flown today, but the number of strikes won't be announced until Thursday.

Thornton Defends Apportionment Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton said he planned to rest his case today, thus completing testimony in the trial of a suit challenging the legislative redistricting plan adopted last year by the state Board of Apportionment.

Testimony began Monday in U.S. District Court. A three-judge panel will convene here March 3 to hear oral arguments and deliberate the case.

The plaintiffs contend that the 10 multi-member house districts in the plan violate the U.S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" principle. The plan for Senate districts does not contain a multi-member district, but plaintiffs contend that it, too, is unconstitutional because of variations in population between districts and because district boundaries frequently cross county lines.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Roger Glasgow, who assisted in drawing up the redistricting plan, testified at length Tuesday afternoon, explaining why various boundaries had been chosen, why some House districts had been made multi-member districts and how the drafters had attempted to recognize geographical and social groupings in mapping out the districts.

Rep. George Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith testified he believed Senate and House Districts in the Fort Smith area had been arranged to dilute the voting strength of Republicans in the area.

Nowotny is one of the plaintiffs in the suit.

He said the board had drawn a Senate district around Fort Smith that was about 170 miles long and had detached a predominantly Republican ward of Fort Smith and added it to a predominantly Democratic county south of Sebastian County.

The representative said the single-member district plan originally devised by the board last May seemed fair to him and showed it was possible to divide the Fort Smith area into single-member districts. He said that under the plan there would have been three incumbents in his district.

Nader Urges Fight on Pollution

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader urged students at the University of Arkansas Tuesday night to become involved in consumer protection and the fight to clean up pollution.

Nader spoke to about 1,200 persons at a Symposium 72 lecture.

He began his lecture about 15 minutes late because he said he would not start speaking until all television cameras and tape recorders were taken out of the auditorium.

Nader said the recorders and television film crews destroyed his rapport with the audience.

He spent most of his 1½-hour lecture criticizing big business and singling out companies which he said were taking advantage of the consumer.

"There is no longer any competition for quality among big businesses," Nader said. "Instead, the giants of various industries have gotten together to fix prices and to conspire to control the market."

He singled out General Mills and Kellogg's for accusations of neglecting nutritional vlues in breakfast foods. He said the two firms manufacture the bulk of all breakfast cereals.

Nader said price-fixing was rampant in most major industries and the U.S. Justice Department did not have the resources to stop the practice.

"When they do catch price-fixers such as General Electric and Allis Chalmers, it costs the American public billions of dollars to prosecute," he said.

Nader also said that a number of industries, particularly auto makers, engaged in product-fixing, a practice whereby companies agree to hold back new and improved products.

"Several years ago the auto industry, in response to a discovery relating to pollution control, agreed to do nothing to change engine design," Nader said. "Gas turbine cars worked so well when Chrysler tested them, people in the auto industry got together and demolished them all."

Desert Ranch Brothel

By LEE GOULD
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Cottontail Ranch, a trailer-court brothel operating in the desert of Esmeralda County, has come under fire for allegedly turning away black customers.

Tony McCormick, executive director of the Nevada Equal Rights Commission, said Tuesday he personally was turned away from the brothel after he went there to investigate a complaint.

McCormick, who is black, said the commission will investigate the situation, call a public hearing and, "if necessary, issue a cease and desist order."

"Ridiculous!" ranch owner Beverly Harrell said of the matter.

"A bordello should have a choice in who they entertain," she said. "And, after all, everyone should have the right to decide who to go to bed with."

McCormick said the initial complaint came from a black resident of Tucson, who claimed he was turned away from the ranch, about 180 miles north of here.

McCormick said the man filed the complaint with the American Civil Liberties Union, which forwarded it to the commission.

Nevada is the only state with legalized prostitution.

After the complaint was filed, McCormick said he drove to the ranch last weekend to investigate.

"I showed my state credentials, but I was not allowed inside," he said.

"I think it is a discredit to the state to have a person barred from anywhere because of his race," McCormick added.

Prostitution has flourished in Nevada since the days of the silver rush of the 19th century. Although outlawed in several larger counties, prostitution is considered only a "public nuisance" under state law. Many rural counties allow brothels to operate openly.

Worst Balance of Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. balance of payments in 1971 was its worst in history, falling to a deficit of $29.6 billion by its broadest measurement.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday that the country's worsening trade position and the instability of the dollar before last Aug. 15 were primary reasons for the big deficit.

The deficit in the last quarter of the year was huge—$6.1 billion—despite the economic-stabilization program that was put in effect in August. Still, it was an improvement over the third quarter.

The department said the $29.6-billion figure was that reflected by official reserve transactions, which include trade, goods and services, and transactions involving foreign central banks and foreign governments.

By another measure—the net liquidity balance—the deficit was $22.2 billion, still the worst in history. This yard stick takes into account, primarily, trade and transactions between individuals and companies.

NAMED FOR PEOPLE

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Sapporo, scene of the 1972 Winter Olympic Games, derives its name from the Ainu, the light-skinned, round-eyed people who lived on the island of Hokkaido before the Japanese arrived.

The city's name is a contraction of the Ainu phrase, "Sato poro petsu," meaning a large dry river.

Accused Soviet Spy Bail Is $500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian United Nations employe accused of trying to buy information on the Navy's newest fighter plane, the F14A Tomcat, is being held in $500,000 bail on espionage charges.

Valery Ivanovich Markelov, 32, a translator working under a five-year contract at the U.N. at a salary of $18,600, was suspended from his job without pay by U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who said he was "very much concerned" about the charges.

When Markelov appeared before U.S. Magistrate Max Schiffman in Brooklyn for arraignment Tuesday, standing beside him was Leonid V. Shcherbakov, a Soviet embassy consul who had flown here from Washington.

Markelov refused to be fingerprinted or answer any questions until Shcherbakov advised him to cooperate.

After bail was set, the arraignment was adjourned until today to permit Soviet officials to obtain a lawyer for Markelov. He expected to seek reduction of bail.

Archeological Puzzle Solved

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An archeological jigsaw puzzle has been solved with the discovery in Mexico of the stone fragment missing from an ancient burial monument.

The National Geographic Society announced the finding Tuesday and said it confirms that the monument bears the oldest recorded date in the New World, an inscription equated to 31 B.C.

The monument was built by the ancient Olmecs who first appeared in Middle America about 1200 B.C., the society said.

The missing fragment was unearthed by a farmer near the small village of Tres Zapotes in Mexico's Veracrus State, the announcement said, adding:

"It matched perfectly the broken stela grave-stone unconvered by archeologist Mathew W. Stirling while on a National Geographic Society-Smithsonian Institution expedition at the same site in 1939."

And the society quoted Stirling, now a Smithsonian research associate, as saying:

"There was always a doubt about the date on the broken monument. This new fragment demonstrates beyond any question that our original date reading was correct and the stela predated the Mayas.

The monument is inscribed with a bar-and-dot calendar which Stirling said the Olmecs devised.

Declaring the original, broken monument had a "fierce-looking monster face" carved on one of its sides, the society said the new-found fragment now adds "the 'flame eyebrows' and ornate headdress common in Olmec sculptures.".

The Olmecs, the report added, created the first great art style in Middle America.

"Since there were no metal tools in Middle America at the time," it said, "the carving must have been done with stone and perhaps bamboo instruments. Sand probably was used as an abrasive."

Dr. Michael D. Coe, a Yale University archeologist and Olmec expert, was credited by the society with having "solved the mystery of the missing fragment—using a dim photograph taken in the Tres Zapotes jail by Francisco Beverido, a friend and colleague at the University of Veracruz."

The fragment, after its unearthing by the unidentified farmer, had been locked in the local jail for safe-keeping by Tres Zapotes authorities.

HE LOST TWO WAYS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Joseph Krall, a dentist, told police a man he was treating for a toothache and a companion waiting for him stole his wallet at gunpoint.

The pair fled with more than $500 in cash and $300 in parimutuel tickets purchased that day at Bowie race course.

None of the horses won.

Opening lead—♥ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Our old friend the unlucky expert looked less woebegone than usual. We asked him if his luck had changed.

"Not at all," was the reply. "I just made one of the best plays of my career though. Unfortunately, it didn't do me a bit of good."

The professor was declarer. He won the first trick with the ace of hearts in dummy, led a spade and finessed the jack. "I could see that it wouldn't do me any good to take that trick with my queen so I let him hold the trick without so much as a quiver to indicate that I could have won it."

"He promptly led the ten of spades. I played low. He paused for a moment and then made the extraordinary play of low spade from dummy. After that it was a simple matter for him to cash dummy's king of spades; return to his hand with the ten of diamonds and make five odd."

For once we really sympathize with our friend. He had made a brilliant play and if the professor had simply played dummy's king of spades next, the hand would have collapsed. However, the professor had not really improvised.

The idea of finessing both ways for a missing queen appears absurd and would be absurd if the fact that a finesse worked the first time meant that it had actually succeeded. There is no law requiring a defender to win a trick merely because he can do so.

"Old Whitey"

The horse "Old Whitey" is associated with President Zachary Taylor. When Taylor moved into the White House, he had his favorite mount, Whitey, accompany him. When Taylor was buried, Old Whitey followed his master's body in the funeral procession.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Old Maxim Solves Older Problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I enjoy reading your column and I had to make this comment on the flat chest questions. I have heard a saying, "What God has forgotten, you can build with cotton."

Dear Reader—I am sure that many people will get a chuckle out of your letter. I might add that it is also safer than silicone injections, cosmetic surgery and a lot of other things.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My friend has high blood pressure for which medication is taken. I have learned that an electrocardiogram was taken but do not know the results. From this I presume there is a heart condition. My question is how dangerous is it to be carrying on a romance in this condition in an age bracket of 50 to 55? I know now what they mean when they say it is "an affair of the heart," as mine (which is normal) really beats too fast for comfort.

Nothing has been said by either of us as yet to acknowledge the affair, but I can tell by the smiling eyes, laughing at nothing, heavy breathing and occasional sigh or catching of the breath that the feelings are mutual. It has been a heavy strain on my health. Can't eat, can't sleep, can't concentrate, and it shows on me. Could this be construed as emotional strain?

Dear Reader—There are an awful lot of people who have new romances and new marriages even after having had heart attacks. There is no question but what emotions do affect the heart and your observation that your heart speeds up is perfectly valid. It is an indication of the increased work of the heart and circulation in response to emotional stimulation. Don't let it bother you.

Lovemaking carried to its ultimate conclusion also causes a rise in blood pressure and heart rate and it does indeed increase the work of the heart. This is one reason why it is a good idea for individuals who are still interested in life and romance to stay in reasonably good physical condition. That means maintaining a proper sensible exercise program and weight control. Put plainly, it can have an influence on one's love life.

It can be a lot more frustrating and damaging to a person's total physical health to love and be unloved. Don't forget that the psychic or emotional health is an important factor in physical health and a good satisfying healthy emotional relationship between two people is good for the psychic health.
